

Abstract of the Disclosure

The subject invention provides a system and method for quick and easy calculation of medication dosages to overcome problems in current methods and systems for calculating dosages. The invention can be implemented in numerous ways, including as a system, a device, a method, or a computer readable medium. Specifically exemplified herein are embodiments for use in the healthcare industry.

11/11/2010 10:10:10 AM